Purpose

This report provides information about the Awards to Scholarly Publications Program (ASPP) for the program year April 2016 to March 2017. It provides details on two distinct areas of the program: works funded and operational activities.

About the ASPP

The Awards to Scholarly Publications Program is a key activity of the Federation for the Humanities and Social Sciences. Formerly known as the Aid to Scholarly Publications Program, the ASPP is a competitive funding program with a mandate to support books of advanced scholarship in the humanities and social sciences that make an important contribution to knowledge. Since 1941, the ASPP has supported the publication of over 7,000 books that have helped to enrich the social, cultural and intellectual life of Canada and the world.

Each year, the ASPP offers 180 Publication Grants of $8,000 and five Translation Grants of $12,000, contributing 1.5 million dollars to the dissemination of Canadian research.

The ASPP is funded by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada.

Report on Works Funded

All ASPP grants are approved in principle prior to publication and are paid following publication directly to the publisher.

Report on Operational Activities

The year 2016-2017 was one focused on stability and continuity for the ASPP as the program welcomed a new Program Officer in September. Apart from a significant modification to the format of the Canada Prizes, there were no major changes to the program's guidelines. In addition to its regular operations, the ASPP is participating in the newly formed Canadian Scholarly Publishing Working Group, which is described below.

Canada Prizes

In August 2016, the Federation announced a new format for the Canada Prizes, following a review and assessment of means to build the profile of these prestigious prizes, which have been celebrated for 25 years. The number of prizes was changed from four to two, (one French and one English book) and the value of each prize was doubled. This change is meant to reflect the inherent interdisciplinarity of the humanities and social sciences.

In 2017, two prizes of $5,000 will be awarded:

- Canada Prize in the Humanities and Social Sciences
- Prix du Canada en sciences humaines et sociales

Open Access

Canadian Scholarly Publishing Working Group

The Federation and the ASPP continued their commitment to Open Access by participating in the Canadian Scholarly Publishing Working Group. Organized by the Canadian Association of Research Libraries, the working group gathers a diverse group of participants including scholarly publishers, academic libraries, funders, and researchers that met between July 2016 and April 2017. The goals of the group are to “develop a framework for advanced, robust, sustainable, collaborative models for the Canadian dissemination of the scholarly record.” An interim report was released January 31, 2017 and the final report is forthcoming.

Survey of the socio-economic situation of Canadian journals

This past program year, the Federation's Executive Director and board member Michael Sinatra, Director, Research Dissemination were active members of the Advisory Board that provided input on a study entitled “Shaping a Collective Future: An Investigation into Canadian Scholarly Journals' Socio-Economic Reality and an Outlook on the Partnership Model for Open Access.” The survey was conducted in anticipation of the transformation of Érudit's commercial agreement with the Canadian Research Knowledge Network into a partnership with the Canadian research libraries in support of Open Access publishing for Canadian journals.

Bookmark It! Blog Series

In 2016-17, the ASPP continued publishing its blog series, Bookmark It! Introduced in July 2015, the monthly blog series celebrates ASPP-funded books by highlighting and sharing the story behind some of these fascinating and important books. Some books that were featured in 2016-

17 include One Child Reading: My Auto-Bibliography by Margaret Mackey and Se dire arabe au Canada : un siècle d'histoire migratoire by Houda Asal. All blogs in the series can be found here: <http://www.ideas-idees.ca/blog-category/bookmark-it>.

Application Assessment and Approval Level

The ASPP uses the following numerical assessment system for Publication Grant applications:

Score	Descriptor
5.0-6.0	Excellent. Strongly recommended for funding. The work is at the forefront of its field, and it will have significant impact within its discipline. The work's methodological/theoretical framework is strong. The manuscript is well-structured and well written. The work's contribution to knowledge is important.
4.0-4.9	Very good. Recommended for funding. The work meets all the standards for high quality within its field and makes a major contribution within its discipline. The work's methodological/theoretical framework is sound, though some parts of it might have been strengthened. The manuscript has structural integrity, and is generally well-written. The work's contribution to knowledge is of some importance.
3.0-3.9	Good. Recommended for funding if funds are available. The work meets most of the standards for high quality within its field, and makes a modest though interesting contribution within its discipline, but lacks distinction in at least one of the following areas: methodological/theoretical framework, structure, writing style, and/or importance.
2.9 or less	Not recommended for funding. The work meets some of the standards for achievement within its field, but makes only a limited contribution within its discipline, and is flawed in at least one of the following areas: methodological/theoretical framework, structure, writing style, and/or importance.

The ASPP's Publications Committee, which assesses applications for the awarding of Publication Grants, scores each application according to this scale. Then each application is ranked along with all other applications scored in that month and the top ranking applications are approved.

The average monthly cut-off point for this program year was 4.5, and no application scoring 4.6 or above was declined for funding. This cut-off point is not fixed and may change in subsequent years.

² For the following charts, the number of applications approved, declined, etc. will not equal the number of applications received, because applications are often resolved in a year other than the one in which they were received.

³ Applications invited to Revise and Resubmit in 2013-2014 were received on or before March 31, 2013. For applications received on or after April 1, 2013, any application that was declined may be resubmitted after the work has been revised. It may only be resubmitted once and it must be resubmitted within two years of being declined.

At the conclusion of the 2016-2017 program year, approximately 35 applications were still in process.

The following breakdown by language is for information only; the language of an application is not a criterion for funding approval.

Applications	2016-2017		2015-2016		2014-2015		2013-2014

Translation Grants

Each year, the ASPP offers up to five Translation Grants to support translations of scholarly books. The ASPP's Academic Council meets twice a year to make decisions on the awarding of Translation Grants.

The ASPP received 12 Translation Grant applications in 2016-2017. Exceptionally, the ASPP was able to award seven grants since two unused grants from last year were transferred to this year.

The ASPP is very pleased that one of those seven grants was awarded for the work Uqalurait: An Oral History of Nunavut edited by John Bennett and Susan Rowley that will be translated from English to Inuktitut. It is the first time that a Translation Grant is awarded to a title that will be translated to a Canadian Aboriginal language.

Awards

Many ASPP-funded books go on to win awards within their disciplines. As well, the Federation also awards the Canada Prizes to the best scholarly books in the humanities and social sciences that have received funding from the ASPP.

2017 Canada Prizes

Celebrating the best Canadian scholarly books—not simply within a single academic discipline, but across all the disciplines of the humanities and social sciences—the Canada Prizes are awarded to ASPP-funded books that make an exceptional contribution to scholarship, are engagingly written, and enrich the social, cultural and intellectual life of Canada. Two prizes of $5,000 are awarded. This year's Canada Prizes winners are:
