Dr. Anne-José Villeneuve

Associate Professor of French Linguistics
Adjunct Professor in the Department of Linguistics
University of Alberta

Dr. Anne-José Villeneuve is Associate Professor of French Linguistics at Campus Saint-Jean, and Adjunct Professor in the Department of Linguistics at the University of Alberta. Her research focuses on language variation and change, bilingualism and language contact, and language education. She sits on the editorial board of Francophonies d'Amérique and on the Government of Alberta's inaugural advisory council on Francophonie, and has published in refereed journals such as the Journal of French Language Studies, the Canadian Journal of Linguistics and the Journal of Pidgin and Creole Languages. Through her work in sociolinguistics, she aims to raise awareness of the connections between language, marginalization and social justice.

A native French speaker who grew up in a biracial and bicultural family in the Montreal area, she embraces her Haitian-Québécois heritage and her multilingual life journey. She lives in Edmonton with her wife and pets.
