A – Guidelines

Mandate
The Awards to Scholarly Publications Program (ASPP) is designed to assist with the publication of books of advanced scholarship in the humanities and social sciences that make an important contribution to knowledge.

Grant amount
Each year, the ASPP offers up to 180 Publication Grants to support the publication of scholarly books. An ASPP Publication Grant provides $8,000 to offset the cost of publication. Grants are approved in principle prior to publication and are paid following publication directly to the publisher.

Eligibility criteria

Type of work
The ASPP provides grants for the publication of:

- Monographs
- Collective works
- Critical editions
- Critical bibliographies
- Reference works and documentary collections

The ASPP does not provide grants for the publication of:

- Unrevised theses
- Conference proceedings
- Scholarly journals and articles
- Textbooks
- Technical reports
- Concordances
- Memoirs and autobiographies
- Original works of poetry, fiction and drama

Note: The ASPP funds translations of scholarly works. Please see the ASPP Translation Grant Guidelines and Application Form.

Theses: While unrevised theses are not eligible, a work derived from a thesis will be considered a monograph if it has undergone substantial revision in order to sharpen the focus and enliven the language of the argument.

Collective Works: While conference proceedings are not eligible, an edited collection of individually signed articles arising from a conference will be considered a collective work if it is the result of a collaborative effort and if substantial integration of the chapters is apparent.
Critical Editions, Bibliographies, Reference Works and Documentary Collections: These works will be considered if they include a significant analytical component that makes a contribution to scholarship. They must also contain a full scholarly and critical apparatus.

Finally, for works involving Indigenous research, eligibility will be determined in the context of the Guidelines for the Merit Review of Indigenous Research by SSHRC.

Language
Only works in English or French will be considered.

Length of work
The minimum length of eligible works is 40,000 words, including references.

Citizenship of author
The ASPP funds works written or edited by Canadian citizens or permanent residents of Canada.

For manuscripts written by two or more authors, where individual chapters are not signed, at least half of the authors must be Canadian citizens or permanent residents of Canada.

For collective works—collections of individually-signed articles, including festschrifts—at least half the contributors and half of the principal editing team must be Canadian citizens or permanent residents of Canada.

In certain instances, authors who are not Canadian citizens or permanent residents of Canada, but whose works have a Canadian subject and are based on Canadian sources, may be eligible.

Applicants
A work may be submitted either by an eligible publisher or by an eligible author. Authors do not need to have a publisher committed to publishing the work at the time of submission.

Publishers should consult the ASPP Publication Grant Guidelines and Application Form for Publishers and use the appropriate application form.

Previous publication
With the exception of critical editions, works containing more than 30% previously-published material in Canada’s official languages (English and French) are not eligible for ASPP support.

Publisher
ASPP funded works must be published in Canada by ASPP approved publishers. A list of eligible publishers is available at: www.federationhss.ca/aspp

Non-approved publishers should contact the ASPP in advance of submitting their first application. Publisher eligibility criteria are available at: www.federationhss.ca/aspp

Format of published work
ASPP funded works may be published in print and/or electronic formats.
Open Access supplemental Grants
Applicants have the option of applying to Open Access supplemental grant if they are planning to publish their work in Open access. ASPP Publication Grant applicants will have the option of applying to one or both of the supplemental grants – but can only be awarded one. Applicants will only be notified if they are successful.

Procedure
Application
Authors should provide a completed ASPP Publication Grant Guidelines and Application Form for Authors, plus all items listed at the end of the form. The ASPP reserves the right to return incomplete applications.

Only typed, unmarked and complete manuscripts will be accepted by the ASPP.

Eligibility
ASPP staff will make a preliminary decision about eligibility. If eligibility is not clear, the ASPP’s Academic Council will make a formal ruling.

All ASPP applicants are required to comply with the Tri-Council Policy Statement: Ethical Conduct for Research Involving Humans (TCPS2, 2022), and, in particular, Chapter 9: Research Involving the First Nations, Inuit and Métis peoples of Canada¹.

Peer review
At least two peer reviewers, conforming to ASPP conflict-of-interest guidelines (Annex I), must provide detailed reports on the work. You can find more information about the peer review in Annex II.

The ASPP will engage both peer reviewers for applications submitted by authors.

Note: The peer review process is necessarily lengthy. The ASPP cannot guarantee that its peer review will be completed within any specific time frame.

The ASPP standard for peer review is single-blind--the identity of the author can be shared with the peer reviewers, but the identities of the peer reviewers must not be shared with the author.

Peer reviewers may be chosen from within Canada or from abroad.

The ASPP’s conflict-of-interest guidelines are available in Annex I of this document.

Author response

Once the ASPP has received both peer review reports, they will be forwarded to the author. If the peer reviewer has substantial criticisms of the work, the author should address them in a serious and thorough manner.

The author should forward his or her response to the ASPP as soon as possible. If the response is not received within 6 months, the application will be closed, and may not be re-opened.

Publications Committee assessment

Once the author's response is received, the complete application package will be forwarded to the ASPP’s Publications Committee, which assesses applications for the awarding of Publication Grants. They will examine all elements of the application and score the application according to the following scale:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Score</th>
<th>Descriptor</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>5.0-6.0</td>
<td>Excellent. Strongly recommended for funding. The work is at the forefront of its field, and it will have significant impact within its discipline. The work’s methodological/theoretical framework is strong. The manuscript is well-structured and well written. The work’s contribution to knowledge is important. The work expertly addresses issues related to equity, diversity, inclusion, and decolonization, as applicable.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.0-4.9</td>
<td>Very good. Recommended for funding. The work meets all the standards for high quality within its field and makes a major contribution within its discipline. The work’s methodological/theoretical framework is sound, though some parts of it might have been strengthened. The manuscript has structural integrity, and is generally well written. The work’s contribution to knowledge is of some importance. The work appropriately addresses considerations related to equity, diversity, inclusion, and decolonization, as applicable.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3.0-3.9</td>
<td>Good. Recommended for funding if funds are available. The work meets most of the standards for high quality within its field, and makes a modest though interesting contribution within its discipline, but lacks distinction in at least one of the following areas: methodological/theoretical framework, structure, writing style, and/or importance. The work addresses some considerations related to equity, diversity, inclusion, and decolonization but lacks distinction given recent developments in its discipline, as applicable.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.9 or less</td>
<td>Not recommended for funding. The work meets some of the standards for achievement within its field, but makes only a limited contribution within its discipline, and is flawed in at least one of the following areas: methodological/theoretical framework, structure, writing style, and/or importance. The work does not appropriately address considerations related to equity, diversity, inclusion, and decolonization, as applicable.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

Applications will be ranked according to the Publications Committee's score and the top ranking applications will be approved. Applications scoring 2.9 or less will not be approved for funding.
The Publications Committee’s deliberations, including an application’s score and rank are confidential and will not be shared with an applicant or any other party.

Applications scored within a given calendar month will be ranked along with other applications scored in that month. An allotted number of applications will be approved and the others will be declined.

Note: Positive peer review reports are not a guarantee that a grant will be awarded.

Indigenous research considerations

For applications including Indigenous research, the ASPP will ensure that the peer review and merit review will include assessors, either Indigenous or non-Indigenous, that have experience and expertise in Indigenous research.

The Social Sciences and Research Council (SSHRC) defines ‘Indigenous research’ as: “Research in any field or discipline that is conducted by, grounded in or engaged with First Nations, Inuit, Métis or other Indigenous nations, communities, societies or individuals, and their wisdom, cultures, experiences or knowledge systems, as expressed in their dynamic forms, past and present. Indigenous research can embrace the intellectual, physical, emotional and/or spiritual dimensions of knowledge in creative and interconnected relationships with people, places and the natural environment.”

Resubmission

If an application is declined, it may be resubmitted after the work has been revised. An application may only be resubmitted once and it must be resubmitted within two years of being declined.

At least one of the original peer reviewers must provide a detailed report on the revised work. Typically, the peer review report on the revised work is sought from the peer reviewer who wrote the most detailed and critical report on the original work.

Note: A peer review report on the revised work that simply reiterates the generally positive comments of a previous report is not sufficient for the purposes of resubmission. A resubmission must be accompanied by an updated ASPP Publication Grant Application Form for Authors, plus a copy of the revised manuscript.

Note: Not all works declined for funding will benefit from further revision. Resubmission does not guarantee that a grant will be awarded.

All other conditions described elsewhere in these guidelines also pertain to resubmissions.

Withdrawn applications

If an author withdraws an application at any time, he or she cannot submit the work a second time. However, an author whose work is withdrawn by a publisher has the right to continue the application in his/her own name.

Requesting payment

Following publication, the publisher must complete and submit a Payment Request Form with one copy of the published work bearing the appropriate acknowledgement. Only after these materials are received will the grant be paid.
Lapsed grants
If the work remains unpublished three years after approval in principle, the grant will lapse and no further application for the grant will be considered. It is the author’s responsibility to see that the work is published within the prescribed time period. The ASPP assumes no responsibility for lapsed grants.

Under certain circumstances, an extension to the publication period may be granted. The author must let the ASPP know of the need for this extension before the grant lapses.

Precisions and Restrictions
Copies of the work included with the application will not be returned. Do not submit original manuscripts. Translations that are awarded an ASPP Translation Grant, worth $30,000, may not also apply for the ASPP Publication Grant, worth $8,000.

7. If this is a critical edition, bibliography, reference work or documentary collection
   a. Describe the analytical component of the work and the contribution it makes to scholarship. Critical editions, bibliographies, reference works or documentary collections that do not have an analytical component are not eligible for ASPP funding.
      Click or tap here to enter text.
8. If this is a resubmission
   a. Provide the month and year the original application was submitted to the ASPP
      Click or tap here to enter text.
   b. List the major revisions made to the work since the original application:
      Click or tap here to enter text.

9. Peer Review
   a. Please provide the names and institutional affiliations of at least five (5) potential peer reviewers who conform to the ASPP’s conflict of interest guidelines (Annex I).
      Click or tap here to enter text.
   b. Please indicate the names and institutional affiliations of any individuals who should not peer review the work due to theoretical, methodological or personal differences.
      Click or tap here to enter text.

10. How to submit your application
    Please email this completed PDF form with a PDF copy of the complete manuscript to:
    Awards to Scholarly Publications Program

Annex I: ASPP Conflict of Interest Guidelines

A peer reviewer is said to be in conflict of interest if one or more of the following circumstances apply:

- if the peer reviewer has submitted letters of reference for the author of the work he or she has been asked to review;
- if the peer reviewer has been thanked in the acknowledgements of the work;
- if the peer reviewer was a member of the author’s supervisory committee or was the author’s doctoral or postdoctoral supervisor;
- if the peer reviewer is collaborating or has collaborated with the author on a project within the past five years (some large-scale projects exempt);
- if the peer reviewer and the author are members of the same post-secondary institution or are otherwise located at the same place of employment;
- if the peer reviewer and the author have or have had an intimate or personal (e.g., immediate family) relationship or have a business relationship. Applicants should contact the ASPP for clarification if there is any question about possible conflicts.
Annex II: ASPP Peer Review Report

You have accepted a very important task. You have agreed to review a work in your field of expertise to help the Publications Committee of the Awards to Scholarly Publications Program (ASPP) determine whether an ASPP grant should assist its publication. Your detailed and frank report is critical to the ASPP’s process.

In line with the Federation’s commitment to upholding principles of Equity, Diversity, Inclusion, and Decolonization (EDID)\(^3\), we ask you to take a critical look at how the works you examine align with these principles as applicable given the subject and scope of the work. For works including Indigenous research, please flag any concerns about how they measure against the Indigenous research minimum standards\(^4\).

Notes

The Publications Committee examines the peer review reports, the author's response and excerpts of the work in order to decide on a funding recommendation for the work. When a work is approved for a grant, it is on condition that the work will be published by an eligible Canadian publisher and will be copy edited before publication. In some cases, the Publications Committee will invite resubmission from an author after appropriate revision.

Confidentiality

Your identity as a reviewer is strictly confidential. Your report will be sent to the author anonymously. If the application has been submitted by a publisher, the ASPP will share your identity with the publisher in strict confidence.

Report for monographs and collective works

Please answer, in detail, the following questions:

1. Are the objectives of the work clear?
2. Is the scholarship sound? Is the author thoroughly acquainted with the literature on the subject?
3. Does this work appropriately address considerations related to equity, diversity, inclusion, and decolonization, if applicable?
4. To what audience is the work directed?
5. Do you have any suggestions for the improvement of the work, relating to style, inaccuracies, omissions, or any other points, either substantive or editorial?
6. Is the presentation of the work (grammar, inclusion of notes and bibliography, accuracy of notes, and citations, etc...) of professional standard? Is the work readable? Would this work benefit by being shortened or lengthened? If so, please suggest what might be condensed or expanded.
7. How important is it that this work be published, in light of the scholarship available? Is the work:
   a. A serious advance in state-of-the-art research?

\(^3\) Please see definition of principles in the Igniting Change Report pp. 6-8 Igniting-Change-Final-Report-and-Recommendations-en.pdf (federationhss.ca)

\(^4\) All ASPP applicants are required to comply with the Tri-Council Policy Statement: Ethical Conduct for Research Involving Humans (TCPS2), and, in particular, Chapter 9: Research Involving the First Nations, Inuit and Métis peoples of Canada.
b. A major contribution to research?
c. A contribution which, while modest, is interesting, and which can be recommended for publication?
d. A very modest and limited contribution which can be recommended for publication?
e. No contribution to the field; not recommended for publication?

8. Is the work acceptable for publication?
   a. Yes
   b. No
   c. Not in its present form but a revised work may be publishable (in this case, please indicate the nature of the revisions required)

Report for critical editions

Please answer, in detail, the following questions:

1. Is the publication of this critical edition justified in terms of such criteria as the significance, availability, and textual complexity of the work(s) upon which it is centered?
2. Towards what audience is the edition directed?
3. Has the copytext, if there is one, been well chosen and emended in the light of the stated editorial principles and rationale? Are the authoritative versions of the work identified? Is the detailed description of the history of the composition, printing and publication of the work provided?
4. Are the editorial principles clearly stated, coherent, and appropriate? Is a sufficiently detailed rationale for the principles provided? Are the editorial notes (and appendix(ies), if any) accurate and complete? Is the introductory material (preface, introduction) adequate? Is the scholarship sound?
5. Is the presentation of the work (grammar, inclusion of notes and bibliography, accuracy of notes, and citations, etc) of professional standard? Would this work benefit by being shortened or lengthened? If so, please suggest what might be condensed or expanded.
6. Critical editions funded by the ASPP must contain a significant analytical component. How does this critical edition make an original contribution to knowledge?
7. Do you have any suggestions for the improvement of any portion or aspect of the edition - for example, omissions, inaccuracies, substantive or stylistic shortcomings that should be rectified?
8. How important is it that this edition be published, in light of existing editions and scholarship? Is this edition:
   a. A significant contribution to research?
   b. A major contribution to research?
   c. A contribution which, while modest, is interesting, and which can be recommended for publication?
   d. A very modest and limited contribution which can be recommended for publication?
   e. No contribution to the field; not recommended for publication?
9. Is the work acceptable for publication?
   a. Yes
   b. No
c. Not in its present form but a revised work may be publishable (in this case, please indicate the nature of the revisions required)
