Overview

This report, prepared by the Federation for the Humanities and Social Sciences (Federation), provides information about the Scholarly Book Awards, formally the Awards to Scholarly Publications Program (ASPP), for the program year from April 1, 2024, to March 31, 2025.

Each year, the Scholarly Book Awards provide up to 180 publication grants of $8,000, along with five translation grants. In 2024, in line with the implementation plan, translation grants were increased to $30,000, and Open Access (OA) supplemental grants were introduced to encourage wider dissemination of research.

In total, the program contributes more than $2 million annually to the publication and accessibility of Canadian scholarship.

For additional information about the Scholarly Book Awards, the Implementation Plan, Application Assessment and Merit Review, Governance and Administration of the Scholarly Book Awards, and the Federation, please refer to the Report on the Scholarly Book Awards Program Year 2023-2024.

Context

While the program experienced some processing delays during the year due to staff turnover and reviewer fatigue, operational capacity has since increased. Changes to internal workflow as well as reviewer recruitment and expectations are expected to support the volume of new applications, while maintaining quality and rigour.

Equity, diversity, inclusion, and decolonization (EDID) data collection was paused this year following a decision by the Board of Directors to review the Federation's self-identification survey to ensure it is inclusive, accurate, and aligned with best practices. The Federation remains committed to this work and will resume EDID data collection for the current and upcoming year, with findings to be reported in the next Scholarly Book Awards annual report.

Summary

Distribution

The Federation disbursed 142 publication grants and 2 translation grants. For a complete list of works supported by the Scholarly Book Awards during the 2024-2025 year, please refer to Appendix A.

Translation grants

This year, there were ten (10) translation grants available (five (5) carried forward from 2023-2024), out of which two (2) were dedicated to translation into Indigenous languages.

During the 2023-2024 period, the program received three (3) translation grant applications, and a further six (6) applications came in during the 2024-2025 period.

These applications were reviewed, and eight (8) were approved for a translation grant; six (6) translations from English to French, and two (2) translations from French to English.

Recipients

Authors whose books received Scholarly Book Awards grants between April 1, 2024, and March 31, 2025, were published through an array of publishers. Below is a table displaying Scholarly Book Awards grants disbursed by publisher for the program year 2024-2025:

Conclusion

The 2024-2025 year demonstrated continued momentum for the Scholarly Book Awards, with strong demand for Open Access grants, increased French-language output, and consistent support for first-time authors. Operational improvements helped address earlier delays, and uptake trends suggest ongoing potential for growth and refinement in future cycles.
